President's Message

June 2020

How grateful I am for the Safety Smarts Program. The program is an invaluable tool in aiding in the safety of rural Alberta children. We are blessed with hard working, dedicated and knowledgeable instructors and administrative staff. These individuals keep Safety Smarts going and growing. I am also grateful for the Board of Directors who sacrifice their time for the development and success of the Safety Smarts Program.

We have had an interesting year. March 2020 brought an unexpected and challenging situation for the delivery of Safety Smarts with the unforeseen closing of all Alberta schools due to Covid 19. Delivery could not continue. The 20,000-24,000 students estimated yet to be visited by the end of June by our instructors could not happen.

As a board, we are immensely appreciative for the regional Instructors work, they reached 40,662 students in 339 rural schools before schools were closed. We are hopeful for the future and the return to classes in the coming months.

The administration has been working diligently at finding alternative and adaptive ways to deliver the Safety Smart Program. Their creativity will be beneficial to all rural elementary students in the future.

As a mother to 5 grown children who grew up on the farm surrounded by situations which could be dangerous if they did not know the warnings and dangers, I firmly understand and believe in the Safety Smarts program. Our rural children need to continue to acquire knowledge regarding farm safety. Thankfully, they will. The Safety Smart program will continue on with the administration, instructors and others who believe in this program.

Carolyn Palmer

Stavelly students learn about farm safety

By Rob Vogt
Local Press Writer

Grain can act like quicksand. Once it grabs hold of you, it can pull you under in a few seconds.

That was just one of the messages Marie McKevitt, of the Farm Safety Centre, brought to students at Stavelly Elementary School on Sept. 13.

She demonstrated by putting a toy figure in a bin of grain and asking students to count until the toy was over its head in grain.

They counted to 11.
"They can drown in grain just like you can drown in water," McKevitt said.

However, grain is not like water. "You can't just swim to the top," she said, pointing out you can't breathe under the grain.

"This is not a safe place to go at all," she said.

McKevitt then turned her attention to the power take-off or PTO.

"What you need to know about a power take-off is how quickly it spins," she said.

A power take-off is used to run a machine by transferring power from one source to another, usually by spinning.

For instance, a power take-off can be on the back of tractor used to run a baler.

"Did you know some people get hurt around a power take-off?" McKevitt asked.

She demonstrated a piece of string caught in a power take-off and how it tore it off.

"Can you imagine how it would be in real life?" she asked, noting the demonstration used just a toy.

The Farm Safety Centre is a non-profit organization, that offers programs Alberta-wide given by instructors divided into regions.

The centre's vision is to eliminate farm-related injuries and

LIKE QUICKSAND - Marie McKevitt, of the Farm Safety Centre in Raymond, demonstrates how quickly a toy can be completely submerged in grain, while Grade 1 student Jack Broomfield looks on. It was part of a farm safety presentation at Stavelly Elementary School on Friday, Sept. 13.

The centre offers seven programs for elementary students:

- Kindergarten - one seat, one rider;
- Grade 1 - To stay safe, play safe;
- Grade 2 - water safety and drowning prevention in grain, dugouts and more;
- Grade 3 - hearing safety;
- Grade 4 - it can happen to you. As children get bigger they develop a sense of invincibility, but have to understand accidents can still happen;
- Grade 5 - Get a grip, safety is in my hands. They look at rider safety, collisions and concussions.
- Grade 6 - Bigger, faster but I'm smarter. They look at wearing helmets and riding everything from quads to horses.

This is McKevitt's fifth year with the Farm Safety Centre.

Originally from a dairy farm, she draws on that experience.

"Growing up on a farm and having three children of my own," she said. "It gives me an opportunity to bring it down to children's level."

McKevitt travels to a variety of public and colony schools throughout the year.

"The goal is to see all the schools every year," she said.

The response from children is positive too.

"They know this information, they're very open to it," McKevitt said. They enjoy learning."

COVID Related Request

Hi Louise!

Just wanted to touch base... school closed for us until September. So no farm presentations for CKCS unfortunately. How have things been for you guys? It's been quite the year and very difficult for so many people. Hope some light is seen soon for everyone.

Also I have a son in third grade and fourth grade what were the topics for farm presentations? If you had any materials for them I'd have them read it over.

Talk soon and hope you are doing well,

Karley Duncan
